G. O. P. "QUOTA LIST" IS TO BE GIVEN COMMITTEE

Republican Leaders Will Show What Each State Was Expected to Give.
$1,300,000 NOW IN FUND

G. O. P. Treasurer Declares Cox "Corruption Fund" Charge Is Untrue.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—The quotas assigned to the various states by the republican national committee for the 1920 campaign, totaling $4,887,500, Fred W. Upham, treasurer, disclosed before the United States senate sub-committee on campaign expenditures here this afternoon.

The sum, Upham declared, represented every penny the republicans had at any time planned to collect and really represented at the time it was arrived at about twice what party leaders expected to raise.

The quotas were fixed early in 1919, Upham said, while the $2,975,000 had not yet been collected. The party is operating under a budget not adopted until July, 1920.

The evidence furnished in support of his charge consisted of a quotation from a London weekly which said that the sending of British propaganda to the United States had done harm, and a fiction story boosting the league of nations, sent out, he said, by the Western Newspaper Union, free of charge to any editor who desired it.

Reed said Britain's statement regarding the use of the $7,500 entertainment fund of the British embassy in behalf of Cox, was "a wild jump of the imagination."

Upham admitted it was but said he hoped the committee would get evidence proving him correct.

The committee summoned the Chicago manager of the Western Newspaper Union, to appear this afternoon and tell who is paying for the distribution of the fiction story "The Sam of Freedom Ride," mentioned by Britten.

Senator Pomeroy and Reed went after Britten rough-shod demanding why he had made charges when he had no evidence of their truth.

"I've submitted evidence," replied Britten.

Chicago.—The G. O. P. "quota list" showing the sums assessed against the various states for the republican 1920 campaign will be laid before the senate committee investigating campaign funds today by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee.

On demand of Senator Reed, Governor Cox's spokesman on the committee, Upham agreed to submit this list at the afternoon session of the investigating committee. Republican leaders readily acceded to Reed's demand, stating that production of the "quota list" would show the entire falsity of Governor Cox's statement in his Pittsburgh speech, regarding alleged quotas assigned to 31 cities, and totaling $1,445,000.

Upham admitted that state quotas had been fixed, but said they were not final and might be changed several times during the campaign.

Upham's testimony of the morning session showed:

That collection and pledges for the republican campaign fund since the Chicago convention total more than $1,300,000.

The $700,000 has been allotted to the republican senatorial and congressional campaign committees which is not included in the $3,075,000 budget submitted by Chairman Hays.

That there is nothing to prevent state, county and city organizations raising any sums they wish for local use after having filled the quota assessed against the state by the national committee.

Upham, like Chairman Hays, denied with the utmost vigor all of Gov. Cox's charges regarding a $15,000,000 G. O. P. "corruption fund," and an attempt by "sinister interests" to buy a hold on the presidency.

Upham was followed on the witness stand by Simon D. Fass, Ohio, chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee.

Fass submitted a financial statement showing receipts of $119,295.00 of which all but $54,531 has been spent, he said.

He said there was one contribution of $5,000 but couldn't recall who gave it, two of $2,500 while the average contribution was $40.

He was followed by Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, who in a public statement recently charged the British embassy in Washington was using "an entertainment fund" of $75,000 to spread propaganda on the league of nations.

When the committee demanded Britten prove his charge, he said he hoped the investigators would summon Thomas W. Lamont, of New York Post, publisher of the New York Evening Post, and officials of Doubleday, Page and Company.

RICH MAN HELD AFTER SLAYING IN ROADSIDE INN

Alleged Insult to Westerner's Companion Is Followed by Shooting.

CHARGES SELF-DEFENSE

Several Other Wealthy Men and Three Women Are Sought by Police.

Chicago.—A roadside quarrel today ended in the fatal shooting of Paul Brown, 22, a Chicago clerk, by Gerald Stack, wealthy real estate man of Lansing, Wyoming.

Detectives working on the mysterious murder of Howard B. Rhodes near Niles, Ill., yesterday, heard the shots in Kelley's Sugalow Inn and rushed in quickly enough to seize most of the party.

Stack, who admitted shooting Brown, said he acted in self-defense when Brown's friends interfered during their quarrel over an alleged insult to Miss Mary Kane, one of Stack's companions.

Mrs. Stack, at a hotel here with their two children, was prostrated.

Held with Stack as a witness to the shooting was George Harsh, Webster Grove, Mo., member of the St. Louis board of trade.

Police sought three more feminine members of the Stack party and Charles Gharrett, wealthy Chicago man, also of the party.

According to the detectives who made the capture, Brown with three men and three girls was leaving the roadside at about 3 a. m. but returned for cigarettes. In passing Miss Kane he made a remark for which she slapped him. He made a hot retort and Stack hit him over the head with a revolver, then fired four times, the detectives said. Stack said Brown's party had re-entered the Inn and was rushing out.

Mrs. Stack said the family was returning from a visit in Michigan. Last night Stack left the group saying an old friend was in the city and he wanted to visit him. The next that she heard from him was the notification by police that he was held at police station.

New Beau Night

Modern Business Women Object to Wednesday Night "Dates" because it Interferes With Work.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Amateur ethnologists today learned of an important change in American customs.

Friday evening has usurped the place of Wednesday as "beau night." Managers of amusement parks and theatres said Wednesday night wasn't what it used to be. Friday night, they said, brings it's influx of courting couples.

The clerk at the T. W. C. A. hotel shed light on the subject.

"Wednesday night was 'beau night' because it was prayer meeting night," she said.

"Young business women are more intent on the commercial life now and object to breaking into the middle of the week with a date. It cuts their efficiency for the following day. Young men seem to call more frequently on Friday evening but Saturday is the evening for late homecomings."

"In smaller towns Wednesday still is the popular evening. Dates are made then after prayer meeting."

THROW OPEN WEST TO STEM DRIFT TO CITY

Harding Tells Western Governors That Great Empire Should Be Developed.

MUST AVOID MONOPOLIES

Reclamation Program Started by Roosevelt Should Be Continued.

By United Press Leased Wire
Marion, Ohio.—America's great undeveloped western empire must be thrown open to stem drift of population to the cities, but there must be all care to prevent monopolization of resources and opportunities, Warren C. Harding declared today addressing a group of governors on his front porch.

His speech carried the atmosphere of Theodore Roosevelt and repeatedly the republican nominee harkened back to that president's effort to protect the great national resources of the country from monopoly and waste.

"We have come to the time when the problem of our far west is one of wisely directed development rather than of too much conservation," Harding said.

"One cannot go on saving all of nature's bounty and be fair to the generation of today."

"It is not impossible," he added, "that thousands of these who fought in the world war will be eager to participate in the development of the wonderland we are considering today."

What is really needed, he said, is completion of the reclamation program which began under the republican administration "but which has been neglected since President Wilson took office."

What Roosevelt did for his time, we must carry forward," Harding continued.

"I would not have the west return to the era of speculative operation tending to monopolize," he said.

"I want to see, as he did, a development of our public land country, which will insure the utmost equality of privilege and opportunity."

PHANTOM BANDIT PUZZLES POLICE

Chicago Detectives Are Trying to Solve Mystery of Business Man's Death.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—A "phantom" bandit stalked through the night today over the remains of Howard B. Rhodes, shot to death near here yesterday.

Rhodes was killed while auto riding with Mrs. Gladys Jacobson. The woman drove the car to a hospital, Rhodes' from sagging beside her. She was to be the main witness at the inquest today and her appearance was assured by her former husband in whose custody she was released late yesterday.

Mrs. Jacobson said the motor had stalled in "lovers' lane," near here but was about to start again when a bandit appeared in the roadside brush. Rhodes, she said, hastily fired an automatic and the robber, dashing to the rear of the car, fired from there, a bullet passing through Rhodes' neck. The bandit disappeared then and she hurried to the city.

Police wondered over some sections of the woman's story, puzzling over the fact that the bullet killing Rhodes entered the right side of his face and ranged downward that his revolver was found in the road.

Rhodes was married and has a young daughter. According to his father-in-law, L. J. Morfari, Rhodes never had been suspected of pilfering as Mrs. Jacobson's story indicated.

TRouble IS SPREADING

Civil Strife Will Soon Involve Entire Country, Officials Fear.

By United Press Leased Wire
Belfast.—Martial law was declared in Belfast at noon today.

Rioting which broke out between Orangemen and Catholics last week had been practically continuous for twenty-four hours and growing in intensity.

The death toll was 19 and with many of the 200 wounded in the hospitals in critical condition. It was believed the fatalities would be materially increased.

Reports received here indicated that disorders, growing out of political and religious differences were spreading throughout Ireland.

The fighting assumed the aspect of a civil war here today.

Virtually the whole adult population, including hundreds of women, was gradually being driven into the fray. Heavy reinforcements of British troops were being rushed here from Dublin on a special train.

Casualty List Grows

Renewed fighting brought the total casualties up to 15 killed and more than 200 wounded. Among the dead was a woman and child.

Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulsterites, has issued an appeal to all loyalists to cooperate in the restoration of order.

It is noted, which previously had been limited to the shipyard district and the Catholic quarter, today had spread until it involved several of the principal sections.

When the fighting first began the participants mostly employed clubs, bricks or their fists. But today revolvers and even a few rifles made their appearance.

Police Use Bayonets

Time and again a portion of soldiers sometimes supported by an armored car, dashed in between groups of combatants and with fixed bayonets, pushed the opposing groups apart. Several soldiers and a few policemen were wounded in just such clashes.

The Orangemen, determined to drive all Catholics from Belfast, just as they have from Lisburn and several small towns nearby, are meeting with increasing resistance.

Nearly 200 incendiary fires have been started and the property damage is estimated at close to four million dollars. Catholics are retreating for destruction of their homes and business places by setting fire to Orangemen's property. The situation is becoming more serious hourly.

Democrat Says Official G. O. P. Documents Prove Statement Is False.

By United Press Leased Wire
Columbus, Ohio.—Governor James M. Cox, in a statement today characterized as "absolutely untrue," the statement of Will H. Hays before the senate campaign expenditures committee in Chicago yesterday that the fixed policy of the republicans is to limit campaign contributions to $1,000.

To substantiate his statement the governor again quoted from an "official republican campaign document," which said:

"The time has arrived when some prospects should be asked for subscriptions ranging from $5,000 upward."

Cox claimed that these "prospects" were referred to in the document as the "cream list" and charged that the republican national organization urged that all these contributions be kept secret.

QUOTA LIST IS TO BE GIVEN PROBERS

Written himself had any evidence of the use of the $57,500.

"Not of that particular fund," said Uppham, "but I have evidence of the use of vast sums for propaganda purposes."

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—The republican party's treasury has gathered a total of $1,000,000 in cash and pledges since the convention in June. Fred W. Uppham, treasurer of the republican national committee, testified today before the senate campaign fund investigating committee.

Uppham said $550,000 of this was or will be used as state funds and not for the work of the national committee. Cash collected since June 14 amounted to $618,412.54, Uppham said, and collected pledges equal to $281,587.52.

Of the last item, Uppham said $200,000 will be for the use of the national committee and the remainder for state committees.

Uppham submitted to the committee a bound volume two inches thick containing the names of twelve thousand contributors since June. Of these, he said, eight gave more than $1,000, none more than $2,500. Among the unpaid pledges were two for $5,000, he said.

He also presented a detailed statement on party finances. It showed, in addition to the figures given, that the national committee borrowed $369,000. All these loans, Uppham said, were made in the usual manner, and "not a penny represents any underwriting of the campaign."

The national committee, Uppham said, has instructed him to lend up to $200,000 to the republican senatorial campaign committee and $500,000 to the congressional committee if they need it. These loans must be repaid, he said.

"Where will those committees get the money to repay the loans?" asked Senator Reed.

"From republicans, I guess," said Uppham.

"That means then, that we must add $700,000 to your campaign fund given us by Mr. Hays," said Reed.

"Uppham explained he did not expect to lend either committee the total sum allocated them. Also, he added, $100,000 of the congressional committee's fund is not to be loaned until after election. It is for next year's congressional election, he said.

"I think both committees ought to have a small cash balance left," Uppham declared.

"But they might spend all of it and more," insisted Reed. "So that we can give us yesterday by Mr. Hays, $700,000 you're told about. That makes a total of $3,775,000."

Uppham denied this, declaring that the $700,000 was no part of the national committee's budget.

Reed and Uppham had another dispute over the working of the "joint agreement" with the states, whereby the national committee supervises the raising of funds both for state and national committees.

Will Take It All

Reed asked what was to prevent the states, after raising the quotas assigned to them, from collecting in full for their own purpose.

"Why, when we get through there's nothing left to collect," said Uppham.

"And it's going to take me right up to election day to collect our budget," Reed undertook to say that there has been more money raised and spent in Chicago in any election than the national committee ever heard about, and the same will be true not only in Chicago but in every state in the union," declared Reed.

"When state and county officials are running for election they'll go out and raise money and you can't stop them," the committee asked about loans made by the national committee to states. They included $25,000 to Maine, $7,000 to North Carolina and $5,000 to Maryland.

Uppham said he "hoped" these loans would be repaid but that nobody had guaranteed repayment and no notes were given.

Uppham said $550,000 has been spent to date for publicity and the speaker's bureau but he didn't know whether any campaign speakers received any salaries.

"From the Liberty National Bank, New York, $125,000; First National Bank, Boston, $50,000; Continental and Commercial Bank, Chicago, $50,000; Chase National Bank, New York, $75,000; Crocker National Bank, San Francisco, $25,000; Fred W. Uppham, $10,000."

Uppham said he didn't write the article but article but assumed the injunction was based on the dislike of some contributors to seeing their names published.

He denied in one sweeping statement that "millions had been contributed to the republican campaign fund with sinister intent," as charged by Cox; that special interests had been solicited for funds; that an effort had been made to control the federal reserve system for political purposes; or that any design to corrupt the electorate had been worked out.

Senator Spencer asked how much of the money so far collected came from New York.

$14,310 From Wisconsin

Uppham submitted a statement of the sums raised in the various states for the work of the national committee up to Aug. 28. It showed a total of $618,412.54 and included: South Dakota, $2,931.22; Wisconsin, $14,310.91.

Reed asked Uppham to produce a "quota list showing what sums the various states or cities had been assigned to raise for both the national and state campaigns."

"OH, OH, CINDY" HAS BRISK SEAT SALE

The Oh, Oh, Cindy play will be greeted by packed houses, if the seat sale on Tuesday morning is any indication. There were virtual mob scenes at Bellini drug store when the doors were opened. Hundreds clamored for choice seats and the chairs were well cleared within an hour.

Most of the seats for the opening performance Thursday were sold out by noon, although there were a few scattered ones remaining. The demand for Friday's performance was almost as brisk, but many can still be accommodated with desirable seats.

Committees working under the auspices of the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion were elated over the success of the ticket sale. Practically every member of the cast aided in the sale, and many others devoted their time to it. Several cash prizes are to be distributed to those selling the highest number.

The others were outstanding in their leadership in discipline and general conduct. Mr. Keller's son Joseph is one of the eight boys making up the winning tent, which was selected by Leigh Hooley and E. R. Henderson.

The Hyde trophy for the best individual scout has not been awarded. The local leaders will tabulate their findings and submit them to an impartial judging committee for award.

As soon as they returned to their home town, the scouts set to their daily "good deed," and aided materially in the band concert Monday evening.

600; Walter S. Dickey, $25,000; Uppham replied to a question as to where money loaned committees was obtained.

Ask About Secrecy

Senator Kenyon asked Uppham regarding the injunction to secrecy contained in the official bulletin of the treasurer's office and which Gov. Cox referred to in his Pittsburgh speech.

Kenyon quoted from an article in the bulletin signed by Uppham advising that names of contributors and the amounts they gave not be made public locally.

Uppham said he didn't write the article but article but assumed the injunction was based on the dislike of some contributors to seeing their names published.

He denied in one sweeping statement that "millions had been contributed to the republican campaign fund with sinister intent," as charged by Cox; that special interests had been solicited for funds; that an effort had been made to control the federal reserve system for political purposes; or that any design to corrupt the electorate had been worked out.

SEYMOUR WOMAN IS HEADING NEW CLUB

Wisconsin Women Are Organizing in Defense of the Constitution.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Wausau—Line up the women in defense of the Constitution.

This new slogan has been adopted by the Wisconsin National Defense League according to announcement at headquarters in Wausau today.

Steps preliminary to the organization of an auxiliary to the league to be known as the Wisconsin Woman's Defense League were predicted weeks ago, when it became certain that Tennessee would ratify, Mrs. Laura Cornelius Kellogg, Seymour, was placed in charge of the initial steps of organization. She will head the speaker's bureau of the new league, which will send out women speakers to address meetings over the state.

Neenah was the scene of the first mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the new league Monday evening at the S. A. Cook armory. Other meetings of similar nature are being arranged for Mrs. Kellogg was the chief speaker at the Neenah meeting.

Like the Constitutional Defense League, which is standing sponsor for and meeting all expenses of the new organization, the women's league will strive to defend the Constitution against attacks of radicals who would overthrow it on the promise of the building of a new order of society and government on some theoretical basis.

Mrs. Kellogg, who was Miss Laura Cornelius before her marriage, is an Oneida Indian woman, a granddaughter of Daniel Bread, whose Indian name was De-ho-wa-yi-in, and who as chief of the Oneida tribe, led the voluntary emigration from New York to the Oneida reservation west of Green Bay.

University educated at Barnard college, Stanford, Columbia and the University of Wisconsin, Mrs. Kellogg has had a brilliant career in public work, principally in the interests of her own people.

Preventing an Indian outbreak and much bloodshed at the time of the famous Warner ranch eviction, Mrs. Kellogg was hailed along the Pacific coast as the Indian Joan of Arc; she spent years in Washington fighting legislation which would have taken valuable assets from Indian tribes without just compensation, saving millions of dollars for her people; she was largely responsible for a number of investigations of Indian affairs, including the Carlyle investigation of 1914.

MADISON BANKER IS DEAD AFTER STROKE

Madison—Joseph W. Hobbins, pioneer Madison banker, died at his home here on Sunday after an illness of six weeks. He was 72 years old. Mr. Hobbins suffered a stroke of apoplexy about six weeks ago and never recovered so as to resume his duties. He was born at Birmingham, England, July 23, 1848, and established the Capital City bank of which he was president and cashier for many years. No funeral arrangements have yet been made. The Hobbins family is one of the pioneer families of Madison.

71 YEAR OLD MAN GETS BABY TEETH; FEELS YOUNG

West Bend—Despite the fact that he is 71 and has neither taken money nor made a raid on the neighboring goat farm, Henry Kuba, treasurer of Washington county, feels like a real youngster these days. Not because he is a candidate for re-election nor that he is becoming more active, but he's actually raising two new baby teeth. Henry claims that at the age of 60 he was nursing a new born tooth and thought it wonderful at that time, but that he should grow two more eleven years later has him and many others baffled. "There's nothing like raising your own, and beating the dentist out of the price of a false pair," said Henry.

BUSINESS MAN SINGS PRAISES

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and gas continually. Doctors thought I had stomach ulcers or cancer. After last attack they advised going to Rochester, Minn., for an operation. A friend advised trying May's Wonderful Remedy, which I did and I cannot sing its praises too highly, as I can now eat anything and everything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded."—Druggists Everywhere.—adv.

NEW LONDON FIRM INSURES WORKERS

Plywood Company Adopts Group Insurance Plan for Its Employees.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—The American Plywood corporation of this city has adopted a method of insuring every man in their employ. The corporation allows each man a $1,000 policy involving no premium expense on their part. In case they care to leave, the Plywood company, the man may retain their policy but must meet the premiums themselves. No workman is insured until he has been employed by the Plywood company for three months. The policy provides not only a death benefit, but also protection in case of total disability while in the employ of this company until the employee is 60 years of age. The Plywood corporation is taking this means of showing that the good will and loyalty shown by the employees is one of the factory's most valuable assets. The insurance company will also provide a permanent nurse to give free service to the insured men and their families in case of injury or illness. The insurance policy has already gone into effect. The American Plywood company normal school began its nineteenth year on Monday, August 30, under the direction of Elsie N. Calef as principal. Miss Marie Berg as supervisor of practical and domestic science, and Barrett assistant in professional subjects. Misses Berg and Barrett have been spending the summer taking advanced work in educational psychology and special methods in normal education at Columbia university, New York. The Wausau county normal has already turned out 395 teachers who have with few exceptions given their best to the industry of the state. In the county, the school offers three courses at present, a one year, two year and a three year course for those who come with less preparation than a high school education. The cost of this course is offering teachers $100 per month this year, and those of experience are being paid from $110 to $150 per month. Over fifty have already enrolled and more are expected.

The American Plywood company has had a temporary boom erected in the Wolf river near the factory this week to catch a drive of logs which it is expected any day. Charles Webb and James Quandt have gone to Stevensville to bring back a float of logs consisting of 15,000 feet and thirty cord of basswood bolts. They are to follow the log float, which is to be guarded by two men. The drive has been unusually slow owing to the low water and slow current.

After a most delightful tour abroad of about three months, Miss Mina Yel arrived home Sunday morning. Her return trip extended from August 7, when she departed from Naples, stopping at the rock of Gibraltar and the Azores, to Chicago, where she landed last Friday. Her trip over was made in nine days, going direct from New York to Liverpool.

MOB THREATENS TO LYNCH FOREIGNER

Racine Man Is Stabbed After He Announces His Americanism.

Racine, Wis.—Shrieking blood-curdling threats and brandishing a rusty pocket knife with which he had stabbed a man who had boasted of his Americanism, John Duranjan, believed to be a Milwaukeean, Sunday night threatened to lynch him.

The victim is August Verstrat of Racine, the father of three children. He was walking near Racine Junction Sunday evening when met by Duranjan. The latter stepped up to within a few inches of Verstrat and asked: "Are you an American?"

"I certainly am and I'm proud of it," Duranjan did not reply, but drew from his pocket a long rusty pocket knife and before Verstrat knew what he was about, Duranjan had driven the blade into Verstrat's throat. Verstrat screamed and attempted to fight back. Withdrawing the knife, Duranjan again plunged it into the victim's face, striking him a blow on the jaw with the other fist at the same time.

Lynchings Is Prevented.
Verstrat's calls brought scores of persons to the scene. Had the intention of the assailant not been distracted by the crowd which threatened to lynch him, the police say he would have killed Verstrat.

The crowd closed in. Duranjan was seized by the police who took him to the station. Many in the crowd followed to the jail but the gathering was dispersed by the police and the sheriff's deputies.

Duranjan is believed to be wanted by the Milwaukee police for a cutting affair on the south side a week ago.

Eliminate poisons and congestion from stomach and bowels with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

KAUKAUNA WOMAN HAS MANY RELICS

Daughter of Fox River Valley Pioneer Owns Interesting Collection.

Kaukauna, Wis.—Interesting Indian relics are the property of Mrs. M. Maher, this city, a daughter of Alex. Grignon, an historic figure in the Fox River valley. They consist of an Indian rifle, leather bullet pouch and birch bark canoe.

The rifle and bullet pouch once belonged to a Menominee Indian named Buckskin, who was employed by the Lumber and Grignon families in the pioneer days. In the stock of the gun is a brass cup with cap, used to hold grease and rags for cleaning the rifle. The bullet pouch is of cowhide, the rifle was carried through the Civil war by Buckskin who belonged to a company of sharpshooters.

Buckskin was killed by Big John, a Pottawatomie, who is well remembered by old settlers from Buttes des Morts to Green Bay, as a bad Indian and a terror to all white women and children, taking especial delight in frightening them when he knew the men were not at home.

While they were fishing for star-geon through the ice on Lake Winnebago, he brutally murdered Buckskin and was forever banished from the home of whites and Indians in the valley, as Buckskin was respected by all who knew him.

MUST RENEW BONUS TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Service Men Obligated to Secure Reassignment Before School Year Starts.

Madison, Wis.—"All ex-service men who took advantage of the educational bonus during the last school year will be obligated to obtain a renewal assignment for the school year commencing in September, 1920. If they are to continue to draw the educational bonus," said Maj. Edward A. Fitzpatrick here.

The educational bonus law authorizes assignments of ex-service men to the school for one year at a time only. Men who were assigned to school last year can renew their assignment by applying to the state board of education at Madison, Wis. Ex-service men who filed applications last year, but did not attend school will not need to receive renewal assignments. The original assignments cards granted such men will be the necessary authorization for the payment of the aid whenever they choose to attend school.

The educational bonus law authorizes payment at the rate of $20 a month while ex-service men are in full time regular attendance at approved institutions. The total amount of money to be paid to any one person is limited to $1,050. As the law expires July 1, 1924, it will be necessary for ex-service men to commence school in the fall of the present year if they plan to draw the maximum amount allowed. Advance reassignment requests indicate that fully as many ex-service men will take advantage of the educational bonus during the coming year as drew the aid during the school year just closed.

You Just Try NR For That Indigestion

Get your organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination working in harmony and watch your trouble disappear. NR does it or money back.

One Day's Test Proves NR Best

The stomach only partly digests the food we eat. The process is finished in the intestines where the food is mixed with bile from the liver. It must be plain to any sensible person who realizes this, that the stomach, liver and bowels must work in harmony if digestive troubles are to be avoided or overcome. This fact also explains why sufferers from indigestion, also suffer more or less from heartburn, acid, biliousness and constipation. If you are one of the many unfortunate persons who cannot eat without suffering afterward, if you are constipated, have bilious spells, headaches, coated tongue, bad breath, variable appetite, are nervous, losing energy and feel your health slipping away, take this advice and get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) right today and start taking it. Give it a trial for a week or two.

If you ever did have a doubt in your peppy old soul as to how Camels stand nationally, take a fly over the country! Gee, every time I swing around I see men smoking Camels or buying Camels or talking Camels! Every newspaper and magazine flashes Camel ads! Every billboard spills a scream about Camels!

Pete, you never can beat Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos! Certainly does put it over either 'ind smoked straight! And say, do you get that mild Camel body! Oh gee, Pete, fire-up another Camel—That's the answer!

Now listen: I'm going to draw up some Camel ads and shoot 'em in and I'm going to tell the world what's what about Camels! Bet you I can clean-up on a job like that—and it's all inspiration right from Camels themselves! For instance, Pete, I'm slapping this sketch down here to put you wise—Savvy? THE LABOR VOTE
The American Federation of Labor has announced its indorsement of Gov. Cox for president, following its approval of the Democratic platform in the Montreal convention. The indorsement of Cox declares that in his record as a member of the house and as governor of Ohio his action was favorable to labor in sixty instances and unfavorable in none. It says the record of Harding shows that as a member of the Ohio legislature and the senate he voted favorably on measures of special interest to labor seven times, unfavorably ten times, and was paired once unfavorably. The formal statement issued also declares that Gov. Cox "has shown himself possessed of a fuller understanding of the needs of the working people, a readier response to their needs and to their proposals, and a broader statesmanship in his public discussions of the problems of the industrial world."
The statement further pronounces the Democratic platform more in conformity with the aims and principles of organized labor than that of the Republican party. The effort of the American Federation of Labor to throw its strength to the Democratic party will have, of course, some effect, but it will not control the labor vote by any means. Nobody yet has been able to deliver the labor vote to any candidate or to even consolidate it in favor of any party or nominee. It will be no different in this campaign. Gov. Cox may get the larger share of the labor vote, but Senator Harding has a liberal portion with him, while the Farm-Labor party will draw some support from workmen, although not nearly so much as its organizers expect. The labor vote will be an independent vote, and nobody can say exactly how it will go.

A FAR COUNTRY
Ship me somewhere east of Suez.
Where the best is like the worst,
And there are no Ten Commandments
And a man can raise a tourist.
There is something wild in the heart that responds to Kipling's lines, and for a moment the best of men may dream of a far country where things are different, where desires need no restraint and everything can be had for the taking. The Prodigal Son in the parable dreamed of a "far country," too, and there he went—only to spend his substance and return ashamed and broken.

He had bad luck, perhaps, for the country must exist—a land where things go better, a paradise without the snake, where the sweat of the brow is not the price of bread, where men are strong and women lovely, and there is a fountain of youth for all—
a country in which wishes are horses and beggars may ride. It is far away and it is warm and beautiful, and (in spite of Kipling's soldier (it is generally in the West, where the sun sets in its glory; perhaps in distant islands of the sea, Hesperides, where golden apples grow.
Wherever this land may be, no man has found it on the earth, though many have traveled far to seek it.
But above the earth—that's different.
Long, long ago in Greece the Pagan Plato wrote of a "Heaven above the Heavens," where one would find the originals of all fair things and all fair acts; in the wreck of Rome Augustine dreamed of a better "City of God";
and today the children sing of "a land
of pure delight where . . . pleasures banish pain."
To every man his own far country.
East of Suez there is license. The Heaven above the Heavens is a place of lofty admiration. But, whichever vision a man prefers, he likes to dream of getting away somehow or somewhere from the hard facts of life.

JAPAN IN SAGHALIN
If Japan wants permanent possession of the barren island of Saghalin,
there should be no difficulty in negotiating a formal change of sovereignty with Russia when a stable government is formed at Moscow.
Japan's present action in seizing Russia's northern part of the island is not menacing. Although Washington does not look favorably upon Japan's forceful procedure, there is no reason why the American government should not advise Russia to let the Japanese remain in possession, once Russo-Japanese relations enter upon peaceful ways.
Saghalin's geographical position brings the island naturally within the limits of the Japanese archipelago. It was Japanese explorers who discovered Saghalin was an island and not a peninsula. The fact that this correction was not made until 1809
shows how little interest has been paid to the territory. The Russians used the island almost solely as a penal colony for Siberian convicts.
In 1875 Japan ceded her southern part of the island to Russia. By the treaty of Portsmouth, after the Russo-Japanese war, this area, measuring two-fifths of the island was returned to Japan. Now, the Japanese have made themselves masters of the entire territory, which is a little more than half as large as the state of Ohio.
Saghalin has an average temperature of freezing point the year round. In winter the thermometer falls to 50 degrees below zero. Vegetation grows three months of the year. The total native population is about 5,000. There is little wealth in the island. But, it is opposite the Siberian port of Nikolaievsk.

GAS AND BOOZE DON'T MIX WORTH A WHOOP
Houston, Tex.—Three men here attempted to mix gasoline and booze—both were put under the back seat of their machine previous to a joy-ride. But the gas was in a tank and the booze in a bottle, and they don't mix worth a whoop. Cops pinched them and the grand jury will hear their story.

"BABY VAMPS" LURE UNPROTECTED SONS
Lima.—An epidemic of "Puppy Love" threatens this city, a letter from the mother of a 14-year-old boy to the police says. She says that mothers of young girls look after them more carefully. The boy says that mothers of boys are required to watch them almost constantly to keep them free from the wiles of the "baby vamps."

ENGLISH CONSIDER TAX FOR FOREIGNERS
London.—The House of Commons is considering placing a head tax on Americans and all other foreigners who enter England. The American government has long had a head tax on all incoming foreigners.

HIS "13" STORY WINS DIVORCE
Denver.—This "13" story won him a divorce. Charles Argente told Judge Butler he was married Aug.
13, 1915, in Council Bluffs, Ia. In just 13 months later, on the 13th of September, 1916, she went to Kansas City, came back to him 13 days later, and then left him in a few days. He got his divorce.

"HOMELIEST" MAN EVEN WITH THIEF
Lima.—Harry Walters, secretary of the Moose lodge here, lost his watch, the burglar route.
He wanted another. He attended an outing and saw a clock that he liked offered as a prize for the homeliest man. He entered and won. Now he is satisfied, despite the negative compliment.

VON BULOW TO MAKE "COME BACK" REPORT
London.—Reports from Berlin tell of the probable return to public life of Prince von Bulow as foreign minister to Rome. Negotiations, these reports say, resulted in hints from Rome that Bulow, as an old friend of Premier Giolitti, would be regarded with favor.

HOME BREW IS O. K. IN SEATTLE, DECIDED
Seattle.—This city is going to be home for home brew. National state and county officials have agreed home brew is O. K. and will not raid private homes, unless sales are specifically charged. It's the first "easing up" of the dry law in four years.

SLEEP? NOT A GHOST OF A CHANCE
Houston, Tex.—Ghosts are making life miserable for the residents of an apartment house here, according to complaints made to the cops. Spectral fingers tap at doors and strange sobe and groans make the dim night a horror. Cops watch closely, yet the phenomena continue.

CHEELED AN "JOOL" CAUSE CALAMITY
San Francisco.—Baby Blinn is no piker. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Blinn, will, in fact, have told the world as much. Baby Blinn likes to play with pearl necklaces and diamond rings. She threw $300 worth of the same out of a window. Mrs.
Blinn asked neighbors to help look.

DEFENSE FOR THE CORSET
A female physician has come to the defense of the corset with this argument. In prehistoric days man fashioned some kind of restraint with which to corset his loins. Later women wore bands to support the breasts. From these beginnings the modern corset was gradually evolved. Isn't it reasonable to think apparel which has withstood centuries of fad and unfashionable possesses extraordinary virtue and has not depended upon mere feminine vanity for its survival?
The doctor then goes on to say that the medical profession, strangely opposed to corsets, is only now awakening to appreciation of the therapeutic value of corsets.
Similar arguments might be brought forward to support the Chinese custom of binding the feet, the medical profession, always opposed to that custom, in the present century has come to realize that in cases of clubfoot and flatfoot, sometimes it is very essential to bind the feet for curative effect.
Corsets have their proper place in the treatment of certain cases of spinal deformity, sacro-ligament strain, ptosis or sagging of abdominal organs and other abnormalities, but because physicians recognize this valuable purpose it should not be assumed that physicians advocate corsets for everybody. It would be as sensible to suppose that physicians advise everyone to wear arch props or spinal braces.
Defenders of the corset as an article of apparel
for normal women assert as an article of apparel which carry the hard put to it to find arguments which carry any conviction. Of course, there are none. It would be as easy to uphold the wearing of false teeth. False teeth are all right if your own teeth are no good. Corsets serve as a makehift if your own muscles are n. g. Corsets gained their popularity in an age when physical education was practically unknown and women were expected to be frail, sickly, delicately organized—as the female nostrum maker would say. Such women are not supposed to be human below the collar bones.
Nowadays, girls and young women are getting a better education, a deeper one, which goes down beneath the neck. The better schools and colleges are indeed giving young women a fairly elementary physical training. These girls and young women are the ones who have taken the lead in the emancipa-tion of their sex from the corset. They have already set a fashion, the "corsetless figure" which physically uneducated dowagers and corset-builders strive in vain to imitate. The perfect feminine form which every woman would like to attain is no product of corsets, but of physical education from early girlhood.

Speaking of posed or sagging organs, faulty posture and its numerous ill effects, the accumulation of ungainly masses of abdominal fat and of pads of the same slack tissue about the hips and thighs, of all the factors concerned in the development of these conditions the corset is certainly the foremost.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Boric Acid and the Eyes
Some time ago you spoke of the ages of persons who were availing themselves of the Somersaultaugna. I have been turning somersaults as suggested by you for some time and have derived great benefits from it. I am 71 years old. I find that the use of boric acid solution, about a table spoonful in the pint of boiled water, tends to clear my eyesight.
Is there any harm in continuing its use habitually?
(J. W. S.)
ANSWER—I do not advise the habitual use of boric (boric acid) solution for the eyes. It is harmless if used for a few weeks. It may be harmless in your case if used habitually. Boric acid (boric acid is the older term) solution is a mild antiseptic, non-irritating. It is in no sense strengthening to the eyes, as some people imagine.

What can be done for a naval rupture? Our baby, three years old, has had one since he was a few months old. A truss constantly slips out of place.
(D. W.)
ANSWER—Hernia at the navel is best operated on if it persists over one year. If it is to heal spontaneously under a suitable supporting appliance, prescribed and adjusted by the doctor, it will do so in the first few months. After a year there is practically no hope of such a cure and operation should be done.

Henry Abraham returned to his home at Wau-satu.
"Bliss" Silverfriend of Chicago spent Sunday with his mother and sister.
The Misses Josephine and Maud Briggs returned from a two weeks' visit at Chicago.
L. A. Brown left for Wausau, where he was engaged as assistant principal.
The Misses Josephine Bradford and Flora Nicolls

F. S. Bradford.
Miss Ida Goff returned from a trip to northern lake ports and from a visit with friends at Marinette and Menominee.
The steamer K. M. Hutchinson was destroyed by fire near Fremont.

rence college, arrived from his home at Hillside, Mich., and rented the residence of Mrs. William Johnson for the school year.
The room occupied by Miss Hammond at Lawrence university was being remodeled for a new laboratory.
The anniversary of the battle of Sedan was observed the day previous by the Germans of the city with a parade and picnic at Pierce's park.
Labor Day was generally observed throughout the city as a day of rest. There was no demonstration of any kind.
The annual camp day at the cottages at Lake Winnebago was observed the previous Saturday. The exercises lasted all day.
The receipts from the sale of personal property in the estate of E. G. Goff were $18,980, and from the sale of real estate, $35,544.
Burglars attempted to gain entrance to the residence of Mrs. G. W. Gerry on Cherry street, but were frightened away.

SWEETING'S HIGHER FOR BROOM PRICES
SOAR
Toledo.—It costs the housewife something to keep the home clean now. Brooms are more expensive than ever and according to G. Johnson, broom manufacturer, the price may go higher. Broom corn is about $450 a ton. Pair broom can be bought for 50 cents to $1.

LEFT SMALL FORTUNE IN TIN CANS
Celina.—While appraisers were taking care of peaches, tomatoes, etc., in the store of George Dixon, deceased, they found two peaches on the shelf, containing in gold, bills and receipts, a total of $53,000. Dixon was a bachelor who was known to issue a check and paid for everything in cash. Peaches had no idea of the amount of his estate.

The only unpreventable source of trouble, fire, beginning, caused 1457 such fires in the United States in 1915.

Unlocal Color
By Frederick J. Haskin.
Santa Fe, N. M.—Greenwich Village has invaded the far Southwest.
This is no mere catchy sentence
based on a few instances of sentences
in this country, too, in natural beauty, unspoiled and in great variety.
The greater part of New Mexico remains a wilderness because there is not enough water in the state to convert it into anything else. In the East the artist who derives his inspiration from nature hunts diligently for unmarred bits of country, but here the parts that show any effect of artificial change are few and small, here is unlimited wilderness free to the feet of man. It is not hard to imagine how a man defeated and confused by the complex life of cities might come out here and sit down under a tree and find himself.

Where the Past is Present
No doubt the rich historical associations of the country have much to do with its charm for the creative mind. In most of America change has tramped back and forth across the scene in such a frenzied struggle that all trace of the past has been wiped out. But here the past, in a sense, lives side by side with the present.
The Pueblo Indians still live at most as they did centuries ago, and the high-perched cliff dwellings of their pre-columbian ancestors are still here almost intact. The life of the Spanish folk in many parts of the state is unchanged, too. For those imaginations that like to roam backward through the years this country is rich in inspiration. It has become the favorite hunting ground of archaeologists, and it holds a great opportunity for the artist in words who can tell its long and varied story.

For all these reasons there is an unmistakable tendency toward the formation in New Mexico of a cultural center. The number of artists, writers and scientists who come here year by year increases, and still more significant is the growing number of those who establish permanent homes here.
The buying of adobe houses, many of them more than a century old, and reducing them to modern dwellings without changing their outward appearance, has become quite a local industry. Some charming effects and some startling ones have been produced. Here, for example, is the residence of a post-impressionist artist.
From the outside it looks exactly like the home of a poor sheepherder or woodcutter. But step inside the hallway, and you are met by walls tinted in violet and woodwork painted in a midnight blue, with the light filtered through violet curtains. The reception room, no less astonishing in its color scheme is panelled with great pictures of New Mexico scenery as it looks to the eye of a post-impressionist.

Local Color Looks Pale Thus New Mexico, famous for its local color, is getting a dash of imported color which rather outshines all the indigenous hues. The history of New Mexico has been one long costume party, from the days of the early Spanish conquerors who toiled and sweated across the deserts clad in glittering steel, down through the fringed buckskin times of the Spanish wearing an extra fine pair of spurs and bearskin chaps and wide sombreros. But many of these invaders have gone the historical natives several better. Some of them feel inclined to revive and perfect the native costumes while others have ideas of their own. Thus a certain artist here who is a product of Russia
by way of Greenwich Village, goes in for a heavy cowboy style. If a man from the cattle ranges rides into town wearing an extra fine pair of chaps, this fellow trails him around and will not let him rest until he has parted with them—probably for twice what they are worth. But another painter from the East fancies himself in knickerbockers and golf stockings and a cute little Alpine hat with a green feather. The time has come when the Indians have cause to stare almost as much as they are stared at. The sightseeing is no longer all on one side.

CATCH THIEF THROUGH APPLETON GIRL'S TIP
An Appleton girl gave postal authorities the clue by which Joseph Boehm, charged with the theft of mail pouches
containing $10,000 from the Neenah
depot, was captured.
This was revealed when Boehm was taken to Milwaukee by Adam E. Otto, postal inspector, who, with Harry Luft of the Northwestern road police trail-led him to Bay City, Mich.
The authorities found $1,000 when Boehm's home at Neenah was searched, but he had disappeared. He was traced to Appleton, where a girl told them that he had a girl friend in Bay City, Mich. The girl was located there, and told the men that Boehm was staying at a hotel. He was arrested in his room, where a traveling bag containing a large amount of currency was found.

TRAIN HITS AUTO AT MEDINA; NOBODY HURT
A Buick roadster with a foreign license plate was hit by an Ashland division freight train at Medina Sunday, and had two wheels torn off, besides being otherwise damaged. The train was two cars, one following the other with only a few rods intervening.
The first car made the crossing, but the second was less fortunate. There were two men in the second car. The driver was immediately picked up by the first car and the party left in charge of the damaged car refused to give out any information.

Confessions of a Bride

THE BOOK OF ANN.
I Am Fearful As to What Might Happen at the Rally.

Mr. Best was not the only guest who might spoil the rally in the Lorimer park. I felt sure. Several triangular relations seemed to threaten members of the family. In midsummer, of course, many people whom we wanted to attend would be out of town. The Lorimers were all at the big mansion by the lake for several reasons, the most important being the state of Daddy Lorimer's health. He could not be happy away from his favorite physician, and although he might have taken his doctor with the family to the big farm in the mountains, he was most comfortable in his own splendid home by the lake at the edge of the town. Quite a colony of our neighbors, known as "the shore folks," felt the same way.

Katherine Miller came home suddenly from goodness knows what long tour of the fields of Europe.

As soon as I heard that the lawyer lady was at home the ancient hurt in my heart came to life again. I was positive that Bob had never been disloyal to me except in thought—but that, of course, would serve to break my heart. He had always been attracted by our lovely next door neighbor, simply as a specimen of beauty, he had admitted many times.

Of course Katherine came at once to call on Jim's bride. And, of course, we met. My first glance made me envious. Her glorious tresses had never been touched by the barber's shears. They were much more magnificent than mine had ever been. When I remembered how Bob admired lovely hair, I was filled with regret for having sacrificed mine in order to play the show girl.

Upon the occasion of the ballet, Katherine's hair would be especially conspicuous, for she promised to represent Miss Columbia who would be the spirit of the ballet, and she would wear glorious tresses streaming over her shoulders in magnificent contrast to the short locks of the rest of us girls!

That was certainly enough to spoil

The variety of peaches known as clingstones are usually avoided by the housekeeper when she plans on account of the difficulty of stoning them.

But there is a way to remove the stones that makes it possible to use these peaches and as the clingstones are often the finest flavored and firmest peach it is well worth while canning them.

Before peeling cut with a sharp knife around the peach following the seam on the fruit. Then quickly twist one-half of the other. With a sharp pointed knife cut the stone from the half that holds it.

The fruit must not be over-ripe for the flesh will crush and the skin slip in the twisting.

MISS BREITRICK ENDS SEASON WITH CHAUTAUQUA

Miss Mary Breitrick, daughter of Charles Breitrick, 637 Washington street, who has been singing in a sextette during the chautauqua season with the Travers-Norton company, is expected home Sept. 5. EVERY FLOWER HAS STORY OF ITS OWN

The Forget-Me-Not
The tiny forget-me-not's message of remembrance is known to almost everyone.

An old German tale gives the origin of the name. A knight and his betrothed were walking along the Danube, on the eve of their marriage. Upon seeing a spray of tiny blue flowers which the water was carrying down the stream, she expressed a desire for them and her lover plunged into the water. But the current was too strong for him, and as it carried him past the weeping girl, he threw the flowers to her and said as he was swept toward the sea, "Forget me not."

Anecdote About Napoleon
It is said that Napoleon and Princess Marie were once walking along the Rhine when a flower from her hair blew into the water. With the legend in mind, she exclaimed, "What a chance for a knight of olden times!" Napoleon plunging into the water was nearly drowned. Upon reaching shore, he said, "Take it, Marie, but never again speak to me of an ancient knight."

By the Greeks, the forget-me-not was considered a cure for the bite of scorpion.

The day assigned to the forget-me-not is Feb. 29.

Seen on Battlefields
It is said that immense quantities of forget-me-nots sprang up in various parts of the battlefields after the battle of Waterloo.

A Greek legend tells of the origin of the flower. A messenger of Jupiter

GEENEN'S

HAY FEVER NOT SO PREVALENT HERE

Cool Weather and Rains Have Reduced the Annual Affliction.

One small colony of Appleton people is thankful for the cool weather and abundance of rain this summer. Much of the suffering, sneezing and agony of the annual hay fever epidemic has been spared through climatic conditions.

"There seems to be fewer cases than usual this year," said Dr. H. E. Ensworth, health officer. "I believe it is due to the cool weather and the frequent rains. There has been less dust flying around, which is partially responsible for bringing it on."

Hay fever usually makes its appearance about the middle of August and remains through part of September. A number of Appleton people who are affected annually sought refuge in the north when the annoying season approached. They usually seek the pine regions where ragweed, goldenrod and other pollen distributing plants do not filter the dust into the air.

"We have had very few calls for hay fever remedies this year," said Theodore Belling of the Roemer and Belling Drug store, when asked about the prevalence of the sickness. "The wet and cool weather has made a big difference. We can give them medicines that might relieve them, but we send people to the doctors, as they can relieve the sickness much more effectively than the miscellaneous use of drugs could."

PLANTZ TELLS WHAT COLLEGES ARE DOING

Dr. Samuel Plantz spoke at the meeting of the Rotary club Monday noon at the Y. M. C. A. telling what the colleges of the country have contributed to business, and what Lawrence college in particular has done for the business world.

A special committee consisting of E. H. Harwood, F. J. Harwood and George Weitzel was appointed to work up a delegation to go to Sturgeon Bay the evening of September 10, when a new Rotary chapter is to be installed there. About 40 or 50 members are expected to make the trip by automobile. Green Bay will also be represented at the ceremony. One new member was accepted at the meeting.

PRACTICAL JOKERS TRY TO KIDNAP THE GROOM

The kidnapping of the best man who was tied to a tree in a Menasha park came near causing the postponement of the marriage of a certain couple in Appleton last week. The groom would have shared a similar fate had he not been given a tip by the groomsmen who finally escaped.

Both young men were employed in a local manufacturing plant. The groom did not show up the day of the wedding and the best man had difficulty in getting away in time to fill his engagement. He finally escaped through a rear window and was not observed until he had nearly crossed Lake Street.

He was then pursued by several Appleton employees of the plant in a motor truck and was captured on the north bank of the river. He was taken to the Menasha park and securely tied to a tree.

The kidnapers then attempted to get the groom. They called him out on the porch at his home on some foreign pretense but as he had just been "put wise" by his groomsmen who telephoned to him, did not give the "jokers" an opportunity to carry out their plans.

OVER $5,000,000 FOR BADGER ROADS

Federal Government Doubles Amount Made Available by the State.

Washington — Wisconsin's appropriation of federal funds for road building during fiscal year beginning July 1, 1920, and ending June 30, 1921, is $2,544,945.25, according to an announcement Monday by Thomas S. McDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads of the department of agriculture.

This means a total expenditure of at least $5,089,570.70 on Wisconsin roads during the current fiscal year as one of the stipulations on which federal aid is granted is that every dollar of the government's money shall be matched with another dollar by the state of Wisconsin to be benefited. As a general thing the state or locality does more than its share and judging by precedent the allotment made by the federal government will be the direct cause of about $7,000,000 being spent on Wisconsin roads during the year.

This appropriation is the one under the federal laws that extended road appropriations over a period of five years and Mr. McDonald admonishes congress that it must make another appropriation before the end of the present year or there will be a serious setback in the progress of road construction in the United States.

NEED ANOTHER SWIMMING POOL, INSTRUCTOR SAYS

Municipal Bathing Pool Not Half Large Enough for Appleton.

MANY LEARN HOW TO SWIM

Not a Single Water Fatality in Appleton Since Pool Was Built.

The municipal swimming pool will close its fifth and most successful season Tuesday evening, after being in continuous use since June 1. In that period nearly 3,000 different people have made use of the pool's facilities, and an average attendance of about 300 has been maintained for 78 days.

The increasing number of swimmers and the frequently crowded condition of the pool this year are sufficient reason for the erection of a new and additional tank, according to Willis Wood, who has been director of its classes for the past three years. He cited as an example Kaukauna, which is planning a pool three times as large as Appleton's with a population barely a fourth as great.

A desirable location for the new pool, says the instructor, would be west of the pumping station, less than a block up river. This space is unused and is detached from the residence district. Such a detachment is necessary because of the inevitable vocal exercises indulged in by the young swimmers.

Boys and girls use the pool in about equal numbers. Girls have use of the pool Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and boys the other three week days. Sunday the pool is always closed down. Swimming hours are from 9 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning, from 1 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 6:45 o'clock until dusk. Regular classes are conducted in the afternoon, from 1 to 2 o'clock, from 2:15 to 3:30 o'clock, and from 4:20 to 4:30 o'clock. One class is held for employed boys and girls in the evening. The women's club conducts occasional special classes for girls.

Since the establishment of the pool five years ago, there has not been a single case of drowning in the entire city, according to Mr. Wood. Before that time each year generally saw several such cases.

Need More Dressing Room

Mr. Wood emphasizes his claim for the necessity of a new pool by pointing out that the capacity of the pool is scarcely for more than 75 at a time. Frequently an attendance of 500 must be divided into three classes, each class being nearly double the proper capacity. There are only 67 dressing compartments and it is not an unusual thing for two or three to occupy the same space in one period, though it is scarcely sufficient for one. Another significant fact is the number who are learning to swim, thus increasing the number of those who use the pool, from year to year.

The tank's dimensions are 35 by 99 feet. It starts with a depth of 3 1/2 feet and gradually slopes down to the diving end, where it is 15 feet deep. It has a capacity of 150,000 gallons of water, and this entire amount is changed every other day. The pool is totally emptied and the cement bottom gone over with a hose, after which freshly sterilized water again fills it.

Girls are generally the better pupils when it comes to swimming instruction, according to Mr. Wood. The girls, however, are "fair weather hounds," and a girls' day without a warm sun is a poor one for attendance. Although they learn more rapidly to swim, girls are poor divers as a general rule.

Boys Like to Dive

Boys on the other hand, learn to dive almost as soon as they can swim. They have a slight edge over the girls in attendance, for fair weather or foul generally brings a decent contingent of young ideas to the water.

There are few outstandingly good swimmers among the boys who just learned how this summer, except seven-year old Glendale Strohofer. Glendale learned less than a month ago, but recently completed the feat of making 12 lengths of the pool, equivalent to a fifth of a mile.

Among the girls who are new swimmers, Helen Wolf, Esther Hagen, and Mary Kanouse are prominent. These girls are also among the best divers of their sex. Thirteen years is the average age of the pool denizens, but they range all the way from 4 to 60. The most frequent attendants, as a general rule, are of 5 to 20 years.

Hot weather and good attendance are synonymous terms to the pool. Asked for the best attended day, Mr. Wood only countered by asking in return for the hottest day of the summer. The hottest and most populous week was probably that ending the following July 4. Another crowded week was the one marking the opening of the season.

Every sort of stroke, and some methods that could hardly be termed strokes, are used by the swimmers. Mr. Wood estimates that he has taught about 100 pupils how to navigate, and that there were about 50 of each sex in this number. At the beginning of the year there a large percentage of beginners, but a good share of these are now more or less at home in the water.

Many Spectators

The spectators' gallery is in constant use, though never overcrowded. Evening classes bring the largest number of onlookers, boys and girls, always from 15 to 25 in number, or only from those about to swim, or through swimming. The open-piece bathing suit is a novel sight, but is not as frequent as one might suppose. Besides the regular water padding, the youngsters often take part in games, especially the boys' Water-tag, a simple diversion, is probably chief of these. Dr. R. T. Farrand's wooden water-horse is a popular entertainment for the younger set. The doctor, although a volunteer, gives inestimable help in teaching beginners and in keeping all happy. Except during the raspberry and apple-tree season, when several ripe fruits on the hill just above, tempted many, all those who use the pool are generally well behaved.

NEW REPUBLICAN BOOK SOON TO MAKE DEBUT

New York—The Republican campaign book, entitled "Republicanism of 1920," is about ready for distribution, it was announced tonight by its editor, Frank Kendrick, a New York lawyer.

The volume has been referred to by Democratic leaders as "Boss Barnes," book, with the intimation that its purpose was the raising of campaign funds.

According to Mr. Kendrick, William Barnes of Albany, the Republican state leader, has nothing to do with the writing or the obtaining of contributors.

"The contributions to the expense of the book were made by men who desired that such a volume be presented to the public during the campaign as a supplement to the efforts of political committees," Mr. Kendrick said.

LAW IS VIOLATED, BUT DRYS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Washington—United States judges and district attorneys, corrupted federal agents, and the political campaign are charged by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, with responsibility for unsatisfactory enforcement of the prohibition law in several states.

In a statement issued today Mr. Wheeler alleges that district judges have added the bootleggers by giving small fines and showing antagonism to the law, that district attorneys have precluded enforcement by demanding too much evidence, and that state and federal officers alike are making the prohibition law a "political football."

While pointing out the laxity of the law's enforcement, the Anti-Saloon league official says that all will come out right in the end and that present conditions need not alarm friends of prohibition.

Thieves Are Active

Thieves entered the granary on the Karweik farm in Grand Chute Monday evening. Farmers in that section have experienced considerable trouble recently with night prowlers who have increased the property owners to such a degree that they are up in arms and declare that they will not hesitate to shoot if they find any trespassers.

CITY WILL CLOSE UP SHOP ON LABOR DAY

Nearly Every Line of Business Is Planning Holiday for Monday.

Appleton business places have planned almost unanimously to close all day Labor Day, September 6. A definite and binding agreement has not yet been made among the grocers, but a majority of them are desirous of closing if they can be sure that other business places will do likewise. According to A. J. Herrmann, president of the Appleton Retail Grocers' association. Most of them closed down last year for the occasion, and it is very probable that they will do the same next Monday.

Butchers, likewise, have not completed their plans. Their contracts call for staying open until nine o'clock Labor day, but the Voecks, Peterson and Rehbein, and Bonini Markets favor closing entirely, and most of the smaller shops are thought to feel the same way about it. A definite announcement of the meat markets' policy will probably be made later.

O. P. Schaefer, local hardware dealer, says that all hardware stores will follow their usual custom and close down all day. Shoe stores and jewelry stores will do the same. Barber shops will shut down entirely, remaining open Saturday night as usual. Clothing stores have closed for several years, and plan to do so again.

The Pettibone-Peabody, Geenen, and Glouberman-Gage stores will also close down all day. The public library will be closed as usual. The Y. M. C. A. has made no plans as yet, but will probably be open only part of the day.

POST SCHEDULE FOR Y. M. C. A. FALL SEASON

The special schedule for September, marking the beginning of the fall activities, has been posted in the Y. M. C. A. lobby. September 7 to 11, the showers and swimming pool will be closed down for cleaning and repairs. The bowling alleys will open September 11 and the showers will be ready for use again on the same date. The pool will reopen September 13.

Boys' gymnasium classes will commence for the year on September 13. Men's classes will begin two days later. A special schedule of gymnasium activities is being prepared by R. H. Starkey, physical director.

ALL NET PLAYERS WANTED IN TOURNEY

Championship Games to Be Divided Into Two Sections to Include All Players.

You don't have to be an expert to take part in the city tennis tournament. Realizing that many players would not care to compete in an official tournament against men who were easily their superiors, two classes have been arranged. The best players of the city will compete in Class "A," while all others are welcome to enter class "B."

Including every player, particularly those of class "B" calibre, has been found impossible by the committee on invitations, but if you do not receive an entry blank you are none the less eligible to compete, the committee said. The tournament is city-wide, and in order to show Appleton's class in the net sport, every player is urged to apply for competition.

Entries for class "A" will not be received after Friday, September 3, schedule must be prepared some time in advance, and it is planned to play off a number of games on Labor day. Arrangements have been made to purchase handsome prizes for winners of the first three places in both classes. The entire entry fee will be used to insure good awards and to cover minor incidental expenses. A solid gold medal will be awarded to first place winners, silver and bronze medals to second and third places respectively.

The class "B" tournament will be scheduled the week after class "A." Entries will be received for this class up to Friday, September 10.

NIC DOHR IS ELECTED FIBRE FIRM TREASURER

Nic Dohr, 663 South River street, was elected treasurer of the Peabody Fibre company at a meeting of the board of directors last week. Other officers are Joseph Nugent, Green Bay, president; D. R. Mead, Peabody, vice president; John Kistel, Green Bay, secretary.

Rapid progress is being made in construction work at the new plant. Concrete has been poured to the second floor and it is planned to have the mill in operation by January 1.

NO GAMES IN VALLEY LEAGUE LAST SUNDAY

Not a game was played in the Fox river valley league Sunday because of the rain and consequent wet grounds. New London was already to play at Menasha but the grounds were so slippery that it was decided to call off hostilities. Kimberly and Oakkosh also were scheduled to battle but the park was too wet to start.

No definite information was available this morning whether a double header is to be played here with Oakkosh Labor day. Efforts are being made to arrange the double bill and it is probable they will be successful.

BOYS ARE RETURNING FROM ROSEBUSH RANCH

Phil Jacobson is the first of the Appleton boys to return from the Judson G. Rosebush ranch at Amasa, Mich. He arrived Monday, after spending the entire vacation period in the north. Jacobson was well pleased with his sojourn there. He found the work pleasant and the food excellent. He gained several pounds in weight, has a most healthy looking complexion and is ready for a similar outing next year. More of the boys are expected to reach home this week.

PRICES CONTINUE TO FALL IN MILWAUKEE

By United Press Local Wire
Milwaukee—Prices of many commodities continue to drop here. Downtown stores today sold granulated cane sugar at 15 cents, while outlying stores asked 17 cents. Flour sold at $1.33 for a twenty-five pound sack, as compared with $2.15 last week. Tomatoes were quoted at ten cents a pound; potatoes 50 cents a peck and cabbage at 4 cents a pound, or ten cents a head.

BOYS ALL SET FOR THEIR ANNUAL "WORLD SERIES"

All ready for the world's series. No. it is not too early for this epochal event. The big leagues may still be warring along on their summer schedule, but the boys of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. will have to go to school pretty soon.

So two baseball teams are being chosen Tuesday afternoon in the only try-out practice of all boys who signed up to take part in the big series. More than enough entries for two teams have been received, and excellent material for both nines is a certainty.

Boys who are most interested in the prospective series have been engaged this week in cleaning the grounds of all rubbish, and they are now in just the right condition for a "world's series."

Games will commence Wednesday, and five will be played. R. H. Starkey and "Jack" Payne will choose their nines and assign them the name of the leading pennant possibility in each league.

LAST CONCERT IS BEST OF SEASON

Immense Crowd Hears Ninth Regiment Band at City Park Monday Night.

The largest crowd which has heard a band concert this year was at the city park Monday evening when the Ninth Regiment band made its last concert appearance of the season. The program was the best thus far rendered and the enthusiasm far surpassed any other concert.

A vast improvement was noted in the community singing. It was apparent that the throng enjoyed the singing, that everyone wanted to sing and that a majority knew how, but they lacked leaders. If the suggestion of F. H. Jebe, band director, that singing organizations take the lead in these concerts, is carried out, the vocal part of the program would be vastly better.

While there was considerable noise and disorder caused by children and thoughtless adults, the general deportment was much better than the average. Policemen strolled through the crowds reproving the noise makers and Boy Scouts assisted in distributing the programs and maintaining decorum.

The crowd indicated that the movement to have all of next year's concerts played in the city park will meet with more favor. The audience was the largest of the season, and attracted hundreds of persons from every section of the city. Streets surrounding the park were crowded with automobiles, many of them from the country districts.

One of the greatest needs, it was indicated by the crowd, is adequate seating arrangements. The constant moving around is annoying to those who want to hear the music and detracts largely from the program. It was suggested that next year arrangements be made to seat several thousand persons on temporary benches and rope the seats off so that those who wish to roam around will not interfere with those who want to hear the concert.

Music lovers aver that the band is improving with every appearance and that after a winter's practice the organization will rank with the best in the middle west. It is probable that a
